GERMANS ARE ANGRY

They Resent Insults to the Ex-Empress

COMMENTS OF LEADING NEWSPAPERS.

Bitter Language Used and Warlike Threats Indulged In—Gossip in Paris Over the Attitude Toward the Royal Visitor.

A SERIOUS AFFAIR.

PARIS, Feb. 27.—The Patriotic league has been holding daily meetings to protest against the prolongation of the visit of ex-Empress Frederick, of Germany.

BERLIN, Feb 27.—The action of the French people in openly disapproving the visit of ex-Empress Frederick to Paris, and the rebuffs and insults offered the mother of Emperor William have aroused the ire of the Germans to a remarkable degree. The Cologne Gazette commenting on the conciliatory measures which Emperer William has made to France, of which the visit of ex-Empress Frederick is regarded as proof, says:

"The French have a right to think of revenge, but they have no right to injure the feelings of the head of this empire and his mother by insults that could be expected only of scoundrels. The German people feel deeply the outrage upon the person of their emperor, and they have a right to expect the French people and government to give ample satisfaction and to wipe out the stain upon the honor of France by energetically calling to order the miserable wretches who have insulted the ex-Empress Frederick."

The Fremdenblatt declares that Count von Munster, the German ambassador at Paris, in a long conference with M. Ribot, the French minister of foreign affairs, gave notice that this would be Germany's final attempt to conciliate France.

The North German Gazette regrets the fit of ill humor of the French press and says:

"It is immaterial whether French artists, under the pressure of public opinion, are forced to abandon the idea of exhibiting works in Berlin or not. But it is another thing if at public meetings the grossest insults and vile threats are uttered against the ex-empress and the public accepts them without a protest."

PARIS, Feb. 27.—Ex-Empress Frederick and her daughter visited the Cathedral of Notre Dame, the Cluny museum and the Luxembourg gardens Thursday. Excited groups gathered in the lobbies of the chamber of deputies in the evening discussing the Cologne Gazette's article and the effect of the rebuff on the imperious nature of the emperor. In view of the Cologne Gazette's reputation for such angry ebulitions the article fails to have the effect it might have had if produced by a more sober journal.

In an interview with a representative of the Gaulois M. Deroulede, after repeating the sentiments expressed in the letter to the newspapers, declared that the whole agitation against Empress Frederick was due to the fact that the empress abandoned her incognito to receive foreign embassadors and visit Versailles.

An increased feeling of anxiety lest a sudden disturbance should occur here before the Empress Frederick leaves Paris prevails here and is reflected in Berlin.

M. Deroulede and ten other members of the Patriotic league sent a joint letter to the press in which they say:

"Our object has been achieved. The check to the Prussian is complete and French dignity is saved. The demonstrations which we judged to be necessary would now only detract from the great spirit of patriotic pride that has just united all Frenchmen. It therefore behooves us to abstain from such demonstration."

At the reception held by M. Ribot, minister of foreign affairs, Count von Munster, the German ambassador, threw the whole blame for the unpleasantness arising from the visit of the empress upon M. Herbette, the French ambassador at Berlin. This has given rise to a considerable amount of diplomatic correspondence by telegraph and otherwise, the outcome of which it would seem is that M. Herbette will most likely be recalled from Berlin, where he will be replaced by some one who will not lead another imperial German visitor into such a political caldron of hot water as that in which the Empress Frederick now finds herself. That the action of the Parisians and the tone of the newspaper press of Paris will be deeply resented in Berlin nobody for an instant doubts, and there are many people who look forward, not without a feeling of apprehension, to the effect that the present "unpleasantness" may have upon the mind of the young and warlike emperor of Germany.

Thus far the behavior of the public justifies M. Reinach's eulogy, but the newspapers are running riot in their remarks. M. Clemenceau's paper, La Justice, is the most violent of all. Le Jour says:

"Our army is ready, our armament is complete and our reserves are thoroughly trained."

Regret has been expressed in many quarters that the prince of Wales did not also come to Paris, as his well-known tact would have been useful in avoiding unpleasantness. Empress Frederick herself has remained very calm and has expressed herself as pleased with the courtesy that has been invariably accorded her by the public. The ex-kaiserin has no fear of an untoward incident marking her visit, and thus far has made no change in her intentions or movements.

Took Her Own Life.

MILLWAUKEE, Feb. 27.—The dead body of Gertrude Hitchcox, one of the leading young ladies of this city, was found on the lake shore at the foot of Wisconsin street Thursday morning. The body had evidently been in the water all night. She had been missing since Wednesday morning, and from letters which she left there is said to be no doubt that she took her own life. No reason is known for the deed.

An Embezzler Caught.

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 27.—Charles E. Tuthill, of Chicago, who is charged with embezzling $1,575 of the funds of the Equitable Life Assurance Co. of that city last December, was arrested Thursday morning in Boston at a south end ledging house, where he was living in good style with a widow who has passed as his wife.

"How divine a thing a woman may be made," when her cold is cured by Dr. Ball's Cough Syrup.

'Mother, may I go out to fish?'
No, no, little sonny,
You know you've got a swollen foot,
My precious little honey."

But they got a bottle of Salvation Oil, and he went and caught an eel, and ate it like a man.

It will pay you to look at the novelties in overcoats which Zeigler is now offering.

ANOTHER SNAG.

It Impedes the Progress of the World's Fair—National Officers May Resign.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—A crisis is at hand in the world's Columbian commission. Unless the conference committees of the house and senate of the United States congress decide to deal more generously with the exposition, the salary of every officer except President Palmer and Mrs. Potter Palmer will stop next Tuesday night, and with it the national commission, as a working organization, will pass out of existence. The bill that has been agreed to in the senate appropriates but $40,000 for the fair, and specifies distinctly that the sum shall be available for President Palmer, Mrs. Palmer, their clerk hire and office rent. The efforts of Senator Farwell to insert the words "and other officers," so as to include Director General Davis, Secretary Dickinson and Vice Chairman McKenzie, failed. These officers, if the amounts named in the house bill are not restored in conference committee, must choose between working for nothing or quietly stepping out and allowing the directory to run the fair. The senate even went further, and took what was left of the $200,000 appropriated for the maintenance of the commission during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1891, and turned it over to the government board of control, to be used in arranging the government exhibit. This leaves the national commission without a dollar to its credit after next Tuesday, except what is set apart for the Presidents Palmer.

"I do not think," said Vice President McKenzie, "that there will ever be another quorum of the national commission in Chicago, and I doubt very much whether there will even be another full meeting of the board of control."

THEY WILL GO ABROAD.

Some Important Foreign Appointments Made by President Harrison.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Among the nominations sent to the senate by President Harrison were the following:

John A. Anderson, of Kansas, consul general at Cairo, Egypt; Truxton Beale, of California, minister to Persia; Bernard G. Farrar, of Missouri, assistant United States treasurer at St. Louis; James V. Long, of Pennsylvania, United States consul at Florence; James M. Ayres, of Ohio, at Para; W. W. Apperson, of Kansas, Vera Cruz; Samuel H. M. Byers, of Iowa, St. Gall; Philip C. Hanna, of Iowa, La Guayra; Henry M. Hard, of New York, Clifton, Ontario; James W. Love, of Nebraska, San Salvador; Loring A. Lathrop, of Nevada, Bristol; Selah Merrill, of Massachusetts, Jerusalem; William S. Stanley, of Wisconsin, Pictou, Nova Scotia; Edmund Shaw, of Indian territory, Ascension.

SENATOR WILSON'S FUNERAL.

Attended by the President, the Senate and House of Representatives.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The funeral services of Senator Wilson were held at the Hotel Hamilton at 11 a. m. They were attended by the president, Col. Halford, nearly all the senators, and many other distinguished people. Rev. Dr. Butler, the senate chaplain, conducted the brief exercises, after which the remains were taken to the Pennsylvania depot and placed in charge of the funeral committee of senators and representatives, which left on the special train for Snow Hill, Worcester county, Md. The interment is expected to take place at 10 o'clock this morning.

HAS HE RESIGNED?

United States Treasurer Huston Said to Have Given Up His Office—His Alleged Successor.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Feb. 27.—A private dispatch from Washington announces that J. A. Lemcke, ex-state treasurer of Indiana, has been appointed United States treasurer, vice Huston, resigned.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Neither the president nor United States Treasurer Huston will either confirm or deny the report that United States Treasurer Huston has tendered his resignation. The impression prevails, however, that he has tendered his resignation.

Jud Crouch Is Now Free.

JACKSON, Mich., Feb. 27. — The Crouch murder, by which Jacob D. Crouch, Eunice White, his daughter, her husband, Henry White, and Moses Polly, a former hired man, were butchered in their beds, happened seven years ago, and Jud Crouch, a son, and Daniel S. Holcomb, a son-in-law, were arrested for the murder. The latter was tried and acquitted. Jud has been under $20,000 bail since that time until Wednesday evening, when the case was nolle prossequed in the circuit court, the bond canceled and the prisoner released.

Killed by the Elliotts.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 27.—The coroner's inquest on the Monday tragedy, by which W. L. Hughes, an innocent spectator, and A. C. Osborne, one of the principals, lost their lives at the hands of William J. and Patrick J. Elliott, was concluded Thursday night and a verdict rendered that Hughes came to his death at the hands of W. J. Elliott while shooting with intent to kill and murder Osborne, and that Osborne came to his death by a shot fired by Patrick J. Elliott aided and abetted by William J. Elliott.

The Illinois Deadlock.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 27.—The illness of the three republican legislators, Senators Mathews and Lehman and Representative Payne, prevented the republicans and farmers from voting in the joint assembly. The 128th ballot was taken, and showed 101 votes for Palmer—no quorum voting. Two succeeding ballots showed no change.

To Aid National Charities.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 27. — The eighteenth national conference of charities and correction will convene here Wednesday, May 13, and remain in session until the 20th. The object of the conference is to collect, compare and diffuse information respecting every description of charitable, penal and reformatory enterprises, both public and private.

THE TOWN IS DOOMED

Yuma Likely to Be Destroyed By Flood

MOST OF THE VILLAGE UNDER WATER.

A California Village Swept Away—Loss of Life Reported—Damage by Ice Gorges in New York—Cold Weather Down South.

MENACED BY FLOODS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—Superintendent Fillmore of the Southern Pacific railroad has received a dispatch from Yuma stating that the town is doomed to destruction. Three-quarters of the city are flooded, and water is also threatening the last quarter. The operator closed by stating he could not keep his place another half-hour. The Southern Pacific division headquarters were swept away and with them the ticket and freight offices. The roundhouses and machine shops will probably escape as they are on high ground. The 1,200 inhabitants of Yuma have taken refuge in the penitentiary on high ground. The bridge across Colorado river, 500 feet long, will be destroyed, as the water is almost up to it and rising a foot an hour. The Colorado and Gila are both raging torrents, bringing down portions of houses, trees and dead animals. Yuma has about 1,200 people, mostly Mexicans and half-breeds. Its chief dependence is upon the railroad, and it is the seat of the territorial penitentiary and of a large Indian school. There are no buildings in town of much value, but the flood will damage the fine orchards and vineyards. Along the Gila river and in the Salt river valley the damage is very great, as the extensive irrigating ditches and dams will be ruined by the high water and hundreds of acres of young fruit trees have been washed out.

The little town of Tia Juana, on the Mexican boundary, has been almost destroyed by the floods. Aside from the Russ hotel, which is so badly damaged as to be of no further use, not a building remains standing. The Otay river broke its banks and swelled the Tia Juana river until it flooded the entire country, sweeping away stores, houses, cattle and everything that came in its path. Two persons are reported drowned at Tia Juana. Reports received from Los Angeles give further accounts of the flood there. Near San Gabriel the river formerly passed down east of the town. It is now flowing west of town and is a stream 1,200 feet wide. From the 10-mile house to the ocean there is a vast body of water covering an area of 10 miles wide and 15 miles long. Members of Charles Watts' family, supposed to have been drowned near Downey, have turned up all right.

NEW YORK CATCHES IT.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 27.—The heaviest freshet for years exists in the Mohawk and Hudson rivers. Ice gorges formed in the Mohawk near Tribes Hill and in the Hudson at Stuyvesant. Along the banks of both rivers the New York Central's tracks run and they are submerged to such a depth that trains cannot run over them. The water rose rapidly during the day and is 16 feet above mean tide. The flood causes a total suspension of business in the territory adjacent to the river.

UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 27.—The Mohawk river at 7 o'clock Thursday morning was at the highest stage since March 17, 1865. During the forenoon the water began to recede. A severe rain storm Wednesday evening was the cause of the flood. There has been very little damage in this city except that arising from flooded stores and cellars.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Feb. 27.—The two ice gorges in the Mohawk river above this city broke early Thursday morning, but re-formed about a mile below the city, flooding the lower portion of the town. The pumping station of the water works is completely submerged and nearly all of the manufacturing concerns have had to close. The damage will amount to thousands of dollars.

AT CINCINNATI.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 27.—At midnight the river was 56 feet 2¾ inches high, having fallen 1 foot and 2 inches in a few hours. It will run out several feet in the next twelve hours. Steamers from above and below are on the way here and all interruption to business will be over by Saturday.

BOOMERS SUFFERING.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 27.—There is great suffering in the Cherokee strip among the boomers who went there from Kansas and Missouri several weeks ago. The blizzard caught them unprepared for severe weather, and it is reported that the women and children are in danger of dying from the cold. The only fuel is buffalo chips, and a heavy fall of snow has spoiled them for use, so that the thinly-clad pioneers are huddled together depending wholly on chance for their salvation.

A COLD WAVE DOWN SOUTH.

WEST POINT, Miss., Feb. 27.—A cold wave struck this section Wednesday night and a blinding snow-storm raged until noon Thursday. The mercury fell 50 degrees in a few hours and the weather is the coldest experienced here in many years.

PALESTINE, Tex., Feb. 27.—High winds Wednesday night terminated in freezing weather and Thursday morning there was plenty of ice. The day has been clear and cold.

Fonseca Takes the Oath of Office.

RIO JANEIRO, Feb. 27.—Gen. M. Fonseca took the oath of office as president of Brazil Thursday in the presence of the two houses of congress. The president received the individual congratulations of the members and afterwards reviewed the troops.

Loss $40,000.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Fire caused a loss of about $40,000 to the E. H. Dickinson marble works at 558 to 570 North Water street.

AS SEEN IN BELOIT.

The Beloit Free Press does not seem exactly satisfied with the way things are going at the jail. It insists that tramps had better be confined in jail than allowed to roam the county, and remarks:

"Really, this business of committing men to the county jail has very much the appearance of the broadest kind of a farce. Might as well dispense with police courts, when six men, in broad day light, can "escape" from the custody of the sheriff, notwithstanding the sheriff hitched up his horse and chased them!' as is claimed. Perhaps, now, in the sheriff's eagerness to capture the fellows he 'hitched his horse' into the wagon the wrong way, and so lost precious time. He certainly must have been very anxious to capture them for no one knew better than he that the less number of prisoners he has the more money he will make. Consequently, therefore, he had every motive to impel him to 'chase' them, for isn't he a philanthropist whose sole mission the next two years it is to save money to the taxpayers if he has to pawn his Jenness-Miller suit of clothes to do it? However it is cheering to know that the sheriff 'chased' his escaped prisoners. They ought to have been 'chased.' They didn't deserve anything better, and Sheriff Hogan deserves the thanks of the grateful people of Rock county that he did chase 'em."

A Washington dispatch states that Mr. Caswell has received many congratulatory telegrams on his tremendous victory in passing the direct tax bill. No similar one man triumph has occurred in this congress. Long ago the bill would have gone by the board but for the persistence of Mr. Caswell. Alone, he pursued the committee on rules until they were forced to give him a day, and with over one-half of the members of the house pledged in black and white to support the bill the Wisconsin member finally won the day. The bill refunds $17,000,000 to the states that paid it during the war. The seceding states paid all but about $2,500,000, which still stands against them. Wisconsin's share, exclusive of the 15 per cent allowed fo collection, is $446,535.

The opposition in certain quarters to a liberal appropriation for a state exhibit at the world's fair is discreditable. Wisconsin cannot afford to advertise to the world that the enterprise and sturdy strength which combined to make it one of the greatest commonwealths of the west have been supplanted by an era of indifference. Nor should the state go into competition with surrounding states without sufficient means to make an exhibit of its varied resources and marvelous development. The appeal of the world's fair commissioners from this state should be given a fair hearing.

The requirments of democratic partisanship lead the press of that faith to denounce the Brazilian reciprocity treaty as a failure in advance of the official action of the South American republic. They are earnestly seeking to keep the trade of Brazil out of American and in British hands. The government of Great Britain could well afford to pension the democratic editors of the United States, in consideration of services rendered and to come.

Congressman Simpson has not yet recovered from the shock his sensitive nature received when he glanced from the galleries of the house of representatives. "'Taint got no dignity at all," quoth the meteor of Wichita, "'pears more like the scrambles for the red ear at a shucking match."

A New York paper very sensibly remarks that the published pictures of the young men who acted as ushers at the Astor wedding, and who, we presume, are fair representatives of alleged aristocracy, do not indicate that free institutions are in any danger from the wealth represented by that sort of people.

Congressman Bland insists that the democracy must look to the west next year for a sturdy man to carry the silver banner. And the more the party looks toward Lebanon, Missouri, the greater will be the enthusiasm of Mr. Bland.

Senator Aldrich declares that he will retire from the senate because he is too poor to stay there. It would be far better for the country if some of the multo-millionaires would recognize the fact that they are too rich to stay there.

Omaha Bee—Senator Vilas is not shedding much light on that Madison insurance transaction. The risk is such that silence is the better policy.

It is safe to say that Cleveland is in the presidential race. The activity of his literary bureau proves this conclusively.

ILLINOIS.

Business Transacted in Both Branches of the Legislature.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 27.—In both branches of the legislature a message was received from the governor transmitting the joint resolutions of the Kansas legislature, asking for a commercial congress of representatives of the legislatures of all States west of the Ohio river, to be held April 15 at Kansas City. The congress is to be for the benefit of the agriculture and mining states from the Ohio river to the Pacific ocean, and each general assembly is to appoint delegations consisting of four senators and five representatives, the president of the senate and speaker of the house to be ex-officio members of the delegation.

In the house Representative Van Praag introduced a bill giving the state board of agriculture 5 per cent. of the gross receipts of all racing associations, and limiting racing to thirty days each year. Among the other bills introduced were the following: Providing for arbitration between employes and employers; authorizing county boards to issue $500 liquor licenses in any township upon petition of a majority of the legal voters thereof; making appropriations for the Illinois charitable infirmary and for the state normal university at Normal.

In the senate bills were introduced providing for the protection of contractors' liens; appropriating $5,000 for the Chicago charitable eye and ear infirmary; providing for furnishing employment to idle convicts in the Chester penitentiary; providing for the taxation of express companies; providing arbitration in cases of trouble between employers and employes; requiring the appointment of standing committees of the house by the speaker within two weeks after organization, and regulating telephone charges. Senator Hagle's bill reducing the rate of interest on certificates of purchase of real estate from 8 to 6 per cent. was taken up on second reading and amended so as to reduce the rate to 7 per cent., and was ordered to third reading.

Choice of Michigan Democrats.

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 27.—The democratic state convention held here Thursday renominated Justice John W. Champlin to the supreme bench. The platform adopted congratulates the country on the defeat of the federal election bill, indorses the ousting of two senators by the democratic majority in the upper Michigan house and promises the repeal of the McKinley bill in 1893. A letter was read from Daniel J. Campau, now in Germany, resigning the chairmanship of the state central committee, but the convention refused to accept the resignation.

Charles S. Williams and Arthur A. Clark were nominated for regents of the state university.

Michigan Legislature.

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 27.—The minority of the committee on the state public school, the institution from which Nellie Griffin was indentured to an unknown man, by whom she was carried to Eaton county and murdered, made a report to the house Thursday. The committee found the internal management of the school to be excellent. It excuses the action of Superintendent Newkirk in letting the girl go on the ground that the murderer, Canfield, had practiced an imposition which was not detected by the county agent.

Shook Hands with the Judge.

OTTAWA, Ill., Feb. 27.—Charles Ford was sentenced to be hanged on Saturday, March 21 next, for the murder of David Moore, of Omaha, in June. When asked if he had anything to say he replied only: "I am innocent." He did not show the slightest concern, and after the sentence walked forward and shook hands with Judge Stipp, who pronounced the order of the jury.

A Landslide.

BARRE, Vt., Feb. 27.—A huge landslide occurred Thursday on the property occupied by the Goddard seminary building. Hundreds of tons of earth were hurled down and many dwelling houses were wrecked or damaged. The residence of William McDonald was moved a distance of 11 feet, but not injured.

Capture of a Clinton (Ia.) Murderer.

CLINTON, Ia., Feb. 27.—Owen Golden in 1888, during the firemen's tournament here, struck and killed an aged man named James M. Ordway without provocation. Though in the daytime, with the streets alive with people, he escaped. He was caught in Philadelphia Thursday.

The Parent of Insomia.

The parent of insomia or wakefulness is in nine cases out of ten a dyspeptic stomach. Good digestion gives sound sleep, indigestion interferes with it. The brain and stomach sympathize. One of the prominent symptoms of a weak state of the gastric organs is a disturbance of the great nerve entrepot, the brain. Invigorate the stomach, and you restore equilibrium to the great centre. A most reliable medicine for the purpose is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is far prefereable to mineral sedatives and powerful narcotics which, though they may for a time exert a soporific influence upon the brane, soon cease to act, and invariably injure the tone of the stomach. The Bitters, on the contrary, restore activity to the operations of that important organ, and their beneficient influence is reflected in sound sleep and a tranquil state of the nervous system. A wholesome impetus is likewise given to the action of the liver and bowels by its use.

STRUNG UP INSENSIBLE.

Awful Scenes Attendant Upon the Execution of William West, at Washington, Pa.—Hanged While Unconscious from a Self-Inflicted Stab.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 27.—William West, the condemned murderer, did not go to sleep until 4 o'clock a. m., Thursday but slept until 7:30. All night he talked about the murder, but denied his guilt. At 8:30 o'clock, while the death-watchers were changing, West secured a small piece of iron concealed in his bed, and stabbed himself in the neck. He was rendered unconscious. Physicians were immediately called in, but were unable to restore consciousness. Up to 2:30 p. m., when he was hanged, his condition had not greatly changed. He was strapped to a board and carried to the scaffold. At 2:33 the trap was sprung and the rope broke. The murderer was in terrible distress, and it took five men to hold him though manacled. At 2:40 the rope was strung up again and this time it was successful. At 2:47 West was pronounced dead. The hanging and the horrible occurrences connected with it created great excitement. West's crime was the murder of John Crouch, his wife and son at Bentleyville on May 13, 1890.

EBENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 27.—Harry Marsh, who murdered his sweetheart, Clara Jones, near Gallitzin, Pa., July 6, 1890, was hanged here at 1:58 p. m. Thursday. The girl's refusal to marry him was the cause of the crime.

WOMAN SUFFRAGISTS.

They Are Holding Their Twenty-Third Annual Convention at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The Women's Suffrage association began its annual meeting at 10 a. m. Thursday The annual address was made by Susan B. Anthony, who congratulated the association on the progress of the past year, especially the admission of the state of Wyoming, in which woman suffrage is a recognized institution. Lucy Stone sketched the progress of the work during the past forty years. Isabella Beecher Hooker spoke upon women in politics and jurisprudence.

In the evening Julia Ward Howe made an address. Mrs. Florence Balgarnia, of London, Eng., said that women in that country have determined to obtain the privileges that men enjoy. They are going to work for the ballot as the women of America are working.

Mrs. Harrison gave the delegates a reception at the white house during the afternoon.

BURIED IN A SNOWSLIDE.

Two Houses and Their Occupants Swept Out of Sight in Colorado.

CRESTED BUTTE, Col., Feb. 27.—A snowslide swept over the Bullion King mine at Irwin at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, carrying the boarding-house and Superintendent Ropell's dwelling-house. Mr. Ropell, Mrs. Ed Clarke and child at the boarding-house and B. F. Smily, the engineer, are still buried in the slide with but little hope of their recovery alive. The miners had gone to the shaft-houses and escaped. Every man was put to work, and about thirty have left here for the scene in the vain hope that some of the victims may be found alive.

Knights of Pythias Conclave.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 27.—Gen. James R. Carnahan, of Indianapolis, who is at the head of the uniformed rank of the Knights of Pythias, has arrived here. He comes to make preliminary arrangements for the triennial encampment to be held here beginning August 23, 1892.

WORK IN CONGRESS

Views on the Alleged Violation of the Fourteenth Amendment.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The minority members of the judiciary committee have prepared two reports in opposition to the Houk resolution, which was ordered favorably reported to the house. The judiciary committee was to inquire into and report to the house whether or not any state has, by any constitutional or statutory provision, violated the second section of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution, so that a proper apportionment of representation may be made by congress.

One minority report, prepared by Mr. Oates (Ala.), is signed by Messrs. Oates, Culbertson (Tex.), Henderson (N. C.) and Wilson (W. Va.), and by Stewart (Vt.), with a qualification. This report says that the states are not constitutionally prohibited from disfranchising any of their male citizens; it is only prescribed as a penalty for such disfranchisement, for any other cause than that of participation in rebellion or other crime, that the representation in congress from such state shall be reduced in the proportion which the persons disfranchised bear to the whole number of adult male citizens in such state.

Representative Rogers (Ark.) in his individual minority report says:

"The session proceeds on two false assumptions: (1) That if a state restricts suffrage for cause other than rebellion or crime it violates the second section of the fourteenth amendment; and (2) that it is necessary for some states to violate this section in order that a proper apportionment of representatives may be made."

Attention is drawn to the Idaho provision forbidding polygamists or Mormons to vote. Other states, Mr. Rogers says, might be cited, but the list is already so long as to suggest the inquiry whether the whole country is not rapidly growing weary of the fourteenth amendment altogether and becoming imbued with the idea that the people of the states are capable of self-government and should be left to it without officious outside interference.

The majority of the committee in its report prepared by Mr. Caswell (Wis.) says that the committee did not deem it necessary in a parliamentary inquiry to examine the various state constitutions, but that in the judgment of the majority the constitutions of Mississippi and Massachusetts are clearly within the provisions of the second section of the fourteenth amendment, because of the educational and property requirements thereof. The fourteenth amendment, it says, is broad and comprehensive in its basis and requires that the representation shall be reduced whenever there is an abridgement of suffrage for any other than the two reasons named.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Less than twenty-five members were present when the house met Thursday morning. The shipping bill was considered in committee of the whole. After a lengthy discussion the general debate was closed, the committee rose and the house took a recess until evening.

At its evening session the house in committee of the whole considered the general deficiency appropriation bill. Mr. Sayers (Tex.) moved to strike out the paragraph appropriating the necessary amount for the payment to the Pacific railroads for services performed for the government. It was agreed to after a long debate. The committee then rose, the deficiency bill was passed and the house adjourned.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—In the senate the house amendment to the direct tax bill was presented and was laid on the table for the present. The legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was reported by Senator Allison (Ia.), who gave notice that he will ask the senate to consider it as soon as the sundry civil bill shall have been disposed of.

The sundry civil bill was then taken up and its consideration resumed, beginning on page 65—discussion to be under the five-minute rule. A large number of minor amendments were offered, many of which were agreed to, and the bill was passed. The legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was taken up and the amendments reported from the committee on appropriations were acted on as read.

Senator Sawyer (Wis.) offered an amendment creating the office of fourth assistant postmaster-general. Senator Plumb (Kan.) said he believed the department under its present management was unnecessarily extravagant and characterized by a lack of careful attention to the public expenditures. This new office would simply enable the postmaster-general to devote all his time to his private business. Senator Sawyer withdrew his amendment.

Senator Allison having reported the Indian appropriation bill, an amendment offered by Senator Sanders (Mont.) providing for the purchase of 15,000,000 ounces of silver and the issue of treasury notes thereon was ruled out and the bill was laid aside.

The legislative bill was then completed, with the exception of several amendments on which separate votes were demanded. The bill was laid aside.

The conference report on the military academy appropriation bill was reported by Senator Allison and agreed to. The bill remains as it passed the house, the senate receding from the only amendment it made.

Three Men Killed by a Hand Car.

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., Feb. 27.—While three men were returning from work on a hand car Thursday the car jumped the track and passed over their bodies, killing all three instantly.

During the epidemic of La Grippe last season Dr. King's New discovery for consumption, Coughs and Colds, proved to be the best remedy. Reports from the many who used it confirm this statement. They were not only quickly relieved, but the disease left no bad after results. We ask you to give this remedy a trial and we guarantee that you will be satisfied with results, or the purchase price will be refunded. It has no equal in La Grippe, or any Throat, Chest or Lung Trouble. Trial bottle free at F. Sherer & Co's drug store. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

Allow me to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symptoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in grand opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. H. Hamilton, leading basso of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co.

SANTA CLAUS SOAP

My Country: 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee I sing;
Land where our fathers died;
Land where our Mothers cried,
Over the wash-tub tied
Let freedom ring.
My native country thee—
Land of the noble, free—
Thy name I love;
I love thy tucks and frills
But oh: what laundry bills;
My soul with horror thrills;
When I think of thee.
Let music swell the breeze,
And blow through all the trees
Hail SANTA CLAUS:
Let tired mortals wake
And gladly try a cake,
Let all for cleanness sake,
Join the applause.

was my partner in practice. The partnership was dissolved by mutual consent, that he might enter into the traveling business with Dr. Price. Respecting the man as I did for his social and business qualities and for his medical attainments, I have kept watch of him since, and have such faith in his skill and ability, that after suffering a long time with heart trouble and general nervous prostration from which I failed to be relieved, although many kind physicians had assisted me in search of the desired relief I finally wrote to my old friend and partner, describing my case. He sent me medicine at once, of which I have been taking four week. I feel it due him as well as those that think of consulting him, to give this testimonial, which is unsolicited. I am 64 years old and have practiced medicine 39 years.

BAD ECZEMA ON BABY.

Head one Solid Sore. Itching Awful. Had to Tie His Hands to Cradle. Cured by Cuticura

Our little boy broke out on his head with a bad form of eczema when he was four months old. We tried three doctors but they did not help him. We then used your three Cuticura Remedies and after using them eleven weeks exactly according to directions he began to steadily improve, and after the use of them for several months was entirely well. When we began using it his head was a solid sore from the crown to his eyebrows. It was also all over his ears, most of his face and small places on different parts of his body. There were sixteen weeks that we had to keep his hands tied to his cradle, and hold them when he was taken up; and had to keep mittens tied on his hands to keep his finger nails out of the sores, as he would scratch if he could in any way get his hands loose. We know your Cuticura Remedies cured him. We feel safe in recommending them to others.

THE LOST WAIF.

The Strange Midnight Experience of an Express Messenger.

The night express went thundering out of Hopkinsville, Ky., at 7 o'clock sharp. The passengers had made themselves comfortable, and everything seemed auspicious for a quick and safe run to Nashville, Tenn. The express messenger busied himself about his packages, getting his car in order, after which, having nothing else to do, he sauntered to the open window and looked out at the rising moon. What a glorious night it was! The full moon came up from behind the trees and hung over their tops like a ball of fire. How sweet and peaceful everything looked. The thoughts of the young man went back to home and mother. Wrapped in a delightful dream he sank down on the box nearest to him, but suddenly he jumped up in alarm, for he had heard a remarkable sound—a poor, faint little voice crying, "Papa."

"Oh, what a cruel trick for the boys to play on him." He must find the little one at once. He searched every nook and corner and looked behind every box, but no baby was to be found.

What was he to do? He felt certain that he had heard the voice, and something must be done. Ah, he had it at last. He rung the bell with all his might, and the conductor came hurriedly to know what had happened.

The passengers were all excitement; windows went up, heads were poked out, and every one had a surmise, fully one half of them thinking it must be robbers.

When the conductor returned he told them that the express messenger had heard the cry of a child in his car and then he inquired if any child were missing. This threw all the mothers present into a panic of fright. But they soon recovered when they saw that all their own darlings were safe, and every woman expressed the greatest sympathy for the little stranger in the express car. They even volunteered to go and assist in the search for the little lost waif, but to this the conductor would not consent.

The young man in the express car was meanwhile doubting the evidence of his own senses, for had he not heard the voice? He could swear to it. Slowly he sinks down on the same box, when, merciful heavens! there was the voice again crying "Mamma."

Ah, he has it now. The voice comes from the box. Some heartless mother, perhaps, sending her baby by express.

Quickly he cuts the cord and takes off the pasteboard lid. Yes, there it lies, the dear little soul, with its soft curls and snowy dress. He lifts it out tenderly, and then, imagine his surprise—it is a doll—one of Edison's speaking dolls. Every time he sat down on the box he pressed the spring, and then came the feeble little wail of "papa," "mamma," which had caused so much sympathy and alarm.—Detroit Free Press.

Bones in Terrapin.

A young girl from St. Louis in a recent visit to this city was introduced for the first time to the peculiar charms of terrapin. Not long after her first experiments she sat in the crowded supper room of a private house, into which the guests were pouring from the ballroom. "No, I believe I won't have any terrapin," as the waiter held it down before her. "What, not eat terrapin?" asked her escort. "Is it possible that you don't like terrapin?"

"Oh, yes, I like it well enough," she answered indifferently, but in a voice so loud that it sounded over all the clink of glass and silver and hum of voices. "Yes, I like the taste of it well enough, but I don't like to eat it. It's so full of little bones I always feel as if I were eating boiled kittens." Instantly the clink of forks upon plates was audibly lessened, and the next day the caterer said to his chef, "What in the world was the matter with that terrapin up at the M——'s last night?"—New York Evening Sun.

He Had to Be Natural.

An Irish officer of distinction attended a ball, but was not so proficient in dancing as in the use of his sword. While standing up in a cotillon his partner called his attention to a young man opposite, who had previously exhibited much skill as a dancer, in the act of mimicking the movements of the officer. A little observation convinced him that it was the intention of the young gallant to ridicule him, and, therefore, stepping up toward him, he inquired:

"Is that your natural way of dancing?"

He was answered that it was.

"Well," said the officer, "if so, by gracious, if I catch yer dancing artificially hereafter I'll knock yer down?"

The consequence was that the young fellow had to persist in mimicking while he remained in the room.—London Tit-Bits.

The Wonderful "Changeable Flower."

During the summer of 1890 the botanists made a wonderful discovery in Tehuantepec, having established the fact beyond a doubt that the native "hinta" has a flower that changes its color three or more times each day when the weather is favorable. In the morning it is white; at noon it has changed to a deep red; at night it is blue. It is even claimed that some individual trees of this species have a flower that changes to many intermediate hues during the night. There are only two hours out of the twenty-four—from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m.—that this rarity gives out a perfume.—St. Louis Republic.

The readers of the The Gazette will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundations of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address

A Youngster's Reasoning.

A lawyer who lives in the neighborhood of Central park has a bright, chubby little boy about three years old. For some time the youngster has been vigorously protesting every morning against his father's going downtown and staying all day. He thinks papa ought to stay at home, like mamma. Wednesday morning the urchin objected to the departure more sternly than before, and at last the lawyer bethought him to tell his son that "papa was going downtown to get bread and butter for them to eat." That put a new face on the matter, and the protest was withdrawn. All day the little fellow was on the edge of anxiety and could scarcely retain his eagerness to see his father return.

At 5 o'clock he met his father on the landing, and the moment he saw him he cried out, "Where is the bread and butter, papa?" "Oh," said the wily attorney, "I sent that on ahead, and it is out in the kitchen long ago." Thursday morning, when the father had pulled on his overcoat and found his hat, the 3-year old asked, "Papa, going down town to get some more bread and butter?" He was answered in the affirmative. Then he pressed his face against the window and looked at the rain coming down heavily. "I guess," he said, "papa will get bread and gravy today."—New York Star.

An Off Horse.

There are some cases on record of women whose offishness was at least peculiarly troublesome. The wife of the famous Rev. Dr. B. was one of this sort. "My dear," said the doctor one day, "I wish a light lunch for seven of the brethren today." Home he came from the Presbytery at noon, with his invited guests, only to find on the dining table twenty-five burning candles. It was a light lunch indeed! On another occasion he blandly remarked in the old fashioned way: "My dear, will you lay a couple of plates for Dr. S. and Dr. H., who will come home with me at 12?" True to the letter, he found two plates laid on the dining table, but the cupboards and pantry locked and his wife gone.

She led the great preacher a wild life, always pulling offishly. It had been the fate of many great men, from Socrates down to the present, to be hitched to off horses. To pull well together is the ideal of married life, and it is not so easily achieved. Is it very wrong to expect the husband to be one of the horses and the driver, too? Will it be any better if the wife undertake such a double duty? On the whole, is not the true way to dispense with driver and driving altogether and just pull evenly?—Mary E. Spencer in St. St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Saving Carbons.

A method for using the short pieces of carbon used in the electric arc lights is in operation by the electric light company at Concord, N. H., and it is stated that it saves 30 per cent. of the cost. The trimmers bring to the station all the short pieces of carbon collected on their daily rounds. They are then sorted and matched so as to form a carbon about eight inches in length. They are then placed in a machine which forms a dowel on one piece and a socket in the other, and they are cemented in the joints, the cement being heat proof and a great conductor, so that the light is as steady when the joint is reached. The spliced carbons are used only in the holder. Carbons thus joined have been used for over a year, and the prospect is very successful.—Boston Transcript.

Happy Hoosiers.

Wm. Timmons, postmaster of Idaville, writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from kidney and liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman, of same place, says: 'Find Electric Bitters to be the best kidney and liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite, and felt just like he had a new life." The Spirit of Criticism.

There are people who would find plenty to criticise in heaven itself, supposing they were to be allowed to enter into the hereafter by its pearly gates. They are much to be pitied. It may be a mark of superiority to be always dissatisfied. Philosophers even go so far as to tell us that this feeling of discontent with terrestrial things is an unfailing accompaniment of genius, and that the contented man is of little more account as an intelligent being than a pig in its stye munching acorns. This is all very well in its way, but it must not be accepted as dogma. It is an utterance on a par with that of the colored man who held up his hands in horror at sight of a European, and declared that white folk were sinfully ugly.—All the Year Round.

A Greenhorn in the Market.

"It amazes me," said a business man, "how quickly tradesmen will detect a greenhorn. I have never done any marketing in my life, but the other day, when I got through my work at the office early, I thought I would go down to the markets and do some buying just as a surprise for my wife. Well, I spent two hours making a fool of myself. I had the greatest difficulty in the world finding what I wanted, and after finding it I was stunned by the outrageous prices which I was asked to pay. I knew that they were outrageous because I had heard my wife quote the price of things until I had caught an idea of their average cost.

"I went home without buying a cent's worth of anything, but took home with me so great a respect for my wife's financial ability that I told her the whole story, and when she laughed at me took her teazing good naturedly. What surprised me most of all, in fact took my breath away, was that dealers asked of me a higher price in the market for squab than I pay right along at Delmonico's, cooked, dressed, served and all. If any one can explain that to my satisfaction I shall acquire as great a respect for him as I now have for my wife's wonderful ability in providing for a household and paying the bills with so small amount as she asks."—New York Tribune.

for their surplus crop. Here farmers are able to work out of doors every day in the year, and stock run on grass from January to January. Many farmers in Kansas and in the north-west are selling whatever equity they have in their farms, buying the cheap lands of Texas. And in many instances clearing the price of the land from their first years crops. The latest census shows that few farmers in Texas have their farms mortgaged. The Texas school fund is the largest of any commonwealth in the world, aggregating in cash and lands some sixty millions of dollars. State taxes are ten cents on the hundred dollars.

CAME HOME A WRECK.

Sad Plight of a Former Janesville Musician.

DRINK PROVED HIS CURSE.

The Story of His Life Told in a Milwaukee Street Drug Store, and Closed With a Word of Admonition To Young Men.

A stranger walked into a west side drugstore while one of the proprietors was behind the prescription case, and asked permission to sit by the stove a few minutes and warm. Half an hour after, a clerk chanced to pass by the stove and noticed the stranger.

"Whew, what kind of a freak have you got here?" he inquired.

"Oh, let him get warm," answered one of the proprietors.

"He is asleep," was the response. "Say, old man, wake up. You must have been out last night."

By this time quite a group had assembled around the stranger.

"Stranger, what is your business?" inquired one of the doctors.

"Man, know thyself," he quickly replied. "Sir, I am a phrenologist, I can tell any man or boy just what his Creator intended him for. I will examine heads and give a verbal chart, twenty-five cents."

It was decided that as Percy Bonesteel had given practical proof that he could imitate a man run over by the cars, he was the fittest subject for the itinerant phrenologist, and the quarter was produced. The stranger had hardly begun his examination, however, when he wandered into a reminiscent strain.

"Gentlemen," said he, "I was formerly an old resident of Janesville. I left the city twenty years ago. You all look at me and see if you can recognize or remember me. You don't know me. Well I have seen better days. Look at my head and see if you can recognize it," and saying this he removed his ragged hat revealing a head on which the only hair being a wavy fringe line extending from ear to ear.

"You don't recognize it. Well, that is Tennyson's head. I told you I was a poet, just listen," and saying this he began the recitation of stray verses which he claimed were his. The crowd now became interested to know who he was.

"You say you lived here twenty years ago," inquired one of the by-standers.

"Yes, sir; you go down to your public library and see. I have bought hundreds of books for that institution. The books wouldn't recognize me now. I was one of the live members of the Young Men's Association, though, and did my part in establishing that library."

Eyeing the crowd, he straightened up and continued: "Gentlemen, the world has used me hard, although I have tried to use the world well. I have seen better days. None of you know me, notwithstanding, I have done much good for Janesville. Twenty years ago you knew me as J. H. Temple, and I was superintendent of musical instruction for the school for the blind.

Several present finally recognized him. The change wrought by two decades, however, has been a terrible one. Once moving in the best circles, respected by all, taking an active interest in public matters, Temple had a bright future before him. Now broken down in health, ragged and scantly clothed, he presents a picture of the typical tramp. Well educated, and possessing a rare degree of native ability, he makes his living among saloon frequenters, selling phrenological charts in public resorts at twenty-five cents apiece.

"I'm too far gone to help myself much," he said, "but if I can keep other young men from following in my footsteps I will have done a little good any way."

LIKED DR. EATON'S LECTURE.

A Watertown Paper Praises the Janesville Pastor's Recent Address.

Watertown Journal—Rev. E. L. Eaton gave his lecture on "A Very Old Fashioned Gentleman" in the M. E. church, Wednesday evening, February 25, to a very good house. He opened his lecture by giving several beautiful songs, and closed in the same manner, adding greatly to the interest of the lecture. His subject was a very eminent Bible character; which was very different no doubt from that which many had thought it would be, yet it was in our opinion far more profitable than it would otherwise have been.

He showed by this ancient model gentleman, rehearsing some of his traits of character, that the world would be much happier and better for their having lived in it, if they would walk in the footsteps of Joseph. Dr. Eaton is a first class lecturer, and will always be welcomed in Watertown.

SURGEONS EAT AND OPERATE.

Proceedings at the Meeting of the Military Surgical Corps.

Captain J. B. Whiting, Jr., was among those present banquet of military surgeons in Milwaukee last evening. Adjutant General Doe was also present. Before the banquet the assembled surgeons operated on a young lad about twelve years old who had an abscess on the left leg. After a few more operations on dogs, lately killed they drove to the Soldiers' home and spent some time in viewing the wards of that place. From there they were driven to the country hospital at Wauwatosa, where the time was spent in various surgical instructions on the bodies of animals by Dr. Senn. Each Surgeon was afterwards called on to perform the same operation.

WANT EIGHT WARDS.

Janesville Democrats Are Engineering a Scheme for New Local Divisions.

"Are you aware that a quiet movement is on foot among a certain clique of democrats to so amend the city charter that we will have eight wards instead of five," said a well known third-warder this morning. "That is a fact, and I have it that such an amendment is being seriously considered by certain local politicians. They will endeavor to so cut up or divide the city that there will be no danger of the democrats ever losing control of the council or school board. It may fail to pass the legislature, however, as assemblymen are reported as saying that they will not introduce such a scheme in this assembly until it has first been published in the daily papers, and the people have had an opportunity to express their opinion on the subject. If the measure is not generally approved it will not be passed."

BOY BADLY SCALDED.

Farmer McCarty Struck By a Stream of Boiling Lard.

Farmer McCarty was carried home last evening from the Boston Bakery, having received a frightful scald on the left arm and side of the face. The scald on the arm is deep, and will disable the young man for some time.

The scald is the result of an accident. McCarty was at work frying doughnuts at the bakery, and the pan of boiling hot lard was upset, the contents pouring over his arm and face.

His head must have first come in contact with the pan, as he was in a stooping position attending to the furnace. It is supposed that in straightening up his head struck the edge of the pan.

A doctor was immediately called and the young man's injuries were attended to and afterwards he was taken to his home.

WANT A CHANCE TO TALK.

Rock County Teachers Join in the Protest Against the N. T. A.

Janesville schools are likely to be well represented at the coming meeting of the Southeastern Wisconsin Teachers' association at Lake Geneva, whereat it is proposed to form an association of the teachers of the northwestern states. The meeting will present many features of interest. The northwestern association proposed is the outgrowth partly of the peculiar methods in vogue at the National Educational association meetings, whereby the rank and file of teachers are practically disfranchised in the matter of electing officers, and also on account of the fact that the size of the meetings, sometimes aggregating 30,000 teachers, is a bar to discussion.

FOUGHT OVER CLOTHING.

An Appeal to the Supreme Court About a $30 Suit.

The supreme court yesterday passed upon Rock county a case in which the claim is $30 for a suit of clothes. The case is that of Engebretson against Hanson. Judgment was rendered against the defendant in justice court for the price of the suit. He refused to pay, however, and to secure further time took the case to the higher court. Judgment has now been affirmed the added costs amounting to several times the amount of the clothes. Dunwiddie & Goldin appeared for the plaintiff.

MADE $190 AN ACRE.

Big Crop of Leaf in the Town of Center.

J. E. Davis, of Center, sold to Pomery & Pelton, of Edgerton, a few days since, 6,900 pounds of tobacco that he raised on three acres of ground. The price paid was 8¾ and 4 cents. The crop yielded $570, an average of $190 per acre.

BRIEF LOCAL MENTION.

The Vernon Brothers are registered at the Myers House.

Paul R. Colvin is confined to his home by illness.

Miss Eva Nash left for Rockford this morning to spend Sunday.

An eighty-nine cent glove sale will be held at the Leader Saturday.

Frank Parker is moving his restaurant into the store recently vacated by "The Fair."

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Robinson, of River View Park, are rejoicing over the advent of a baby girl.

Richard Hawley, the smiling and accommodating clerk at the Park Hotel, visited Milwaukee to-day.

An eighty-nine cent glove sale will be held at the Leader Saturday.

Miss Ida Kemmett, of this city, has been engaged to teach school in the Fales district, southeast of this city.

W. J. Lloyd, assistant superintendant of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is in the city inspecting the local office.

The republican city and ward committees will meet at the Myers house parlors to-night at 7:30. A full attendance is desired.

An eighty-nine cent glove sale will be held at the Leader Saturday.

L. F. Knipp visited Edgerton to-day.

Conductor O. S. Vaughn, of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, is taking a vacation. His run is taken by Conductor William Spencer. Mr. Vaughn will spend his vacation in Iowa.

An incorrect idea has gained ground that the loss on the home of George Woodruff has been paid. This is not the case. An appraiser representing the insurance company has visited the city and made an estimate on the loss, his figures being as quoted in The Gazette Wednesday evening; but the formal adjustment is still to be made.

Augustus Pickett, of Brownstown, Wis., turned the gas partly out at the Grand Hotel, and when the door was broken in at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, he was nearly dead. He retired to his room at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday evening. Not until 5 o'clock yesterday did the clerk become alarmed. The door was then broken in. Pickett lay on the bed half dressed. The gas was turned past way on, and the room was full. Dr. St. John was called, and Pickett is now on fair way to recovery.

CHURCH CONTRACT LET

Wray & Blair to Build For Presbyterians.

JAMES SHEARER THE MASON

A Noble Structure to Rise at the Corner of Wall and Jackson Streets—Promise Of Beauty and Convenience Given in the Plans.

There now remains but the carrying out of plans already made, and Janesville Presbyterians will have a home of which they may well be proud.

At noon to-day the last paper had been signed that provides for the erection of the new structure. On those papers there appeared as builders the names of Wray & Blair and James Shearer. The bids were opened nearly two weeks ago, but the form of building chosen was such that the price was somewhat above the first estimates. In the beginning it was determined that the new church should cost $9,000. This figure shifted to $10,000, and when plans were presented a change was made to $13,000 on account of the many advantages offered by a somewhat larger church. It was this design that was all but accepted, but another plan presented by Leonard Volk, of Brooklyn, finally won the price fixed, $15000. After opening the bids, therefore, it was necessary to raise an additional $2,000, the terms of the subscriptions being such that no money was payable until the entire sum had been pledged.

NEW PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

"We had determined one thing," said a member of the church, who has given the matter much thought, "That was, that not one cent of debt should rest on the church when it was finally completed."

The additional $2,000 was secured by forming a syndicate to buy the old church property at $2000 and pledge that sum to the church. The papers for this transfer were made out yesterday, and everything made ready for the signing of the contract.

The new church will front on Jackson street, with a west exposure on Wall street. It will occupy the lot opposite Fifield Brothers' lumber yard.

Besides the plan chosen two other plans were considered; one by Conover, of Madison, and the other by Warren H. Hayes, of Minneapolis. Mr. Hayes plan, placing the pulpit in the corner, gave an excellent auditorium. The Volk plan, which is radically different, emphasizes the working life of the church. While affording a beautiful and acceptable auditorium of 375 to 400 sittings, it provides also a specially convenient arrangement of Sunday school and session room, parlors, class rooms, library room, organ room, pastor's room, recess, etc. The outward appearance although not imposing or heavy is yet elegant and ecclesiastical and in the best architectural good taste.

GROUND PLAN OF THE CHURCH.

MATHER IN 'LEAH.'

A Synopsis of the Scenes in Her Great Play.

Margaret Mather will look out upon a Janesvillle audience which will fall not far short of that of "The Bostonians" if to-day's sale of seats furnishes any indication. As "Leah" she will attract even more attention than in "Juliet." Critics insist that her work in that role far excells anything she has before attempted. The synopsis of the play gives some idea of the strong situations of which advantage is taken. It as follows:

Act I.—A village in Galici. Good Friday. Father and son. Love. Superstition. Jews versus Christian. The Schoolmaster. A Wolf in Sheep's Clothing. Leah. In danger. A furious mob. Death to the Jewess.

Act II.—Leah and Rudolph. Leah's devotion. The Oath.

Act III—The schoolmaster at work. His scheme. An Apostate's conscience. Nathan's errand. The hunted Jew. The money offering. The storm. Death of Abraham. Leah's tryst. The denunciation. The accusation. Leah, the Forsaken.

Act IV.—The marriage. Rudolph and Madelina. The church yard. Revenge. The meeting. "What Commandment hast thou not broken?" "Thou shalt not steal." "You have stolen my heart." The Curse.

Act V.—Rudolph's home. Hunted. Leah and Madelina. Rudolph's return. Leah and the child. The Rosary. The Pardon. Leah and the Apostle. Death of Leah.

Notice.

All persons indebted to the Kimball hardware Co., are requested to call on Frank W. Douglas, at the Janesville Hardware Co's. store, corner of Franklin and West Milwaukee street, and settle same without delay. These accounts must be settled at once to save costs.

MUCH BUILDING IN VIEW.

Conrad Brothers, J. M. Bostwick and Others Plan Improvements.

Carpenters say that the weather has been so warm this winter that there was hardly a day when they could not work out of doors. The Conrad warehouse and the Jeffris building, however, are the only buildings of any size that have been building during the cold weather. Building has been very light and many carpenters are working in the planing mills or at such other inside work as is offered. They expect that there will be plenty of work in the spring as a number of men have signified their intention of improving their property.

Conrad Brothers are figuring on building a row of stores similar to those already built on Court street, on the piling used as the skating rink.

R. M. Bostwick expects to extend his store forty feet further out in the rear.

J. M. Bostwick is calculating on putting in a new front at the store lately vacated by R. M. Bostwick.

Two school houses will be built by the city, and this with with the Presbyterian church building make prospects good. Besides thes buildings a number of new residences will be put up.

TWO ENGINES AS A TEAM.

John Heath Speaks of Working them to Advantage.

"Did you know that it is much easier for two engines to move a heavy freight train to have the engines both coupled together in front," said that veteran engineer John Heath. "Well it is. When they are separated—one at each end—they do not work together as they do if placed together in front. The engine in the rear generally pushes its proportion of the train, and up near the center you can observe some slack. When the engines are separated it would be better to make two independent trains. Engines when together can be easily worked together, and do far better work in moving heavy freight trains. You always see the engines together on heavy passenger trains, but for some reason they are not always so placed on freights."

BOWER CITY NOT YET IN IT.

State League Formed and Janesville Left Out—Still One Chance.

Janesville was not represented at the base ball meeting in Racine to-day. The meeting will adopt a schedule of games and prepare for the season and Secretary Smith had given assurance that he would visit Janesville and take steps toward organizing a club before the meeting was held. He failed to come and the schedule will therefore be made out without provision for the Bower City. There is a chance that stock for a Janesville club may be subscribed during the next week. The prospects, however, are not bright. Secretary Smith visited Indiana this week and signed for the Wisconsin league all the star players of last year's Hoosier league.

BRIEF TALES OF THE TOWN.

Fought His Battles Over.

Thomas Calvey, of Princeton, Minnesota, is stopping in the city for a few days renewing old acquaintances. Mr. Caley is now returning home from a somewhat extended trip through the south, especially the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida, having made the tour for the purpose of inspecting some of the battle fields where he fought. Years ago, before the war, Mr. Caley was a clerk in the employ of J. A. Denniston, and was resident of the city two or three years after the war, afterwards going to to Minnesota to make his home. He notes many very substantial improvements in the Bower City since he changed his home.

Bishop Knight In Janesville.

The Right Rev. C. F. Knight, D. D. C. L., bishop of the diocese of Milwaukee, will visit Trinity church Sunday morning at 10:30, when he will preach and administer the apostolic rite of confirmation. There will be no service at Trinity in the evening, the congregation of Trinity worshipping with that of Christ church. The bishop will be the guest of the Rev. James Slidell, rector of Trinity.

Wedded In Jefferson.

William F. Ponantb, of this city, and Mrs. Ida M. Hoyt were married by Rev. L. E. Bullock in Jefferson Wednesday. The bride and groom left for Watertown, where they will make a short visit, and then return to Janesville, their future place of residence.

Lost One Finger.

Brakeman Joseph Gokey, of the Chicago & Northwestern Road, had a finger badly crushed at Montrose while coupling cars. Mr. Gokey resides at number 107 Galena street.

THE BRIDE AN HEIRESS

Moline Elopers Married in This City.

END OF A RUNAWAY MATCH

Miss Velma Snyder's Affection for Her Father's Clerk Leads Her to Depart With Him to Janesville, Here To Be Matrimonially Joined.

A sensational elopement, the parties being from Moline, Ill., ended in a wedding at the home of Rev. S. P. Wilder last evening, when Miss Velma Snyder became Mrs. Walter L. Black.

The story of their love and courtship is romantic. Some time ago the bridegroom came from his home in Hampton, Illinois, and entered the employ of J. B Snyder, proprietor of the Keator House in Moline. Here he met and fell in love with pretty nineteen-year-old Velma Snyder, his employer's daughter. The attachment was mutual—in fact rather a case of love at first sight. The match was not encouraged by the young lady's parents. Their protests only made the lovers more determined. Last evening they met by appointment at Savannah, Illinois, and came to Janesville by the first train. They registered at the Myers House as "W. L. Black and wife, Moline," at the same time explaining that they were not married yet, but intended to be as soon as they could find a minister to tie the knot.

The wedding was "on the quiet," they said, "and they thought that registering that way would throw reporters off the track."

Their scheme was only partially a success.

At 8 o'clock the runaway couple stood before Rev. S. P. Wilder, at the Congregational church parsonage, where they were pronounced husband and wife.

Mr. Black was seen by a Gazette reporter at the Myers House this morning, but was not very communicative, although he willingly acknowledged that they were married

"Did you not come a pretty long distance to be married?" he was asked.

"Well, yes, rather."

"Eloping?"

"Well, not exactly, although no one knew we were coming."

"When will you return to Moline?"

"Not for some time, as we go from Janesville to Varna, New York, on our wedding trip."

Mr. Black is a very pleasant young man, aged about twenty-two years. His father, Frances Black, is one of the oldest merchants in Hampton, Illinois, and is quite wealthy.

The bride, as said before, is the daughter of J. B. Snyder, proprietor of the Keator House at Moline, and has $30,000 in her own name. She is a very pretty blue-eyed young lady slightly under the average in stature.

Mr. and Mrs. Black left for Varna, New York on the 12:30 train. He has a brother who is editor of the Rock Island Union but the Union was "scooped" this time.

WEE ONES MADE MUSIC.

The Little Vernon Brothers' Concert This Afternoon.

A very fair sized audience listened to the concert given by the Little Vernon Brothers at the Congregational church this afternoon. This performance was very pleasing, and many of those who were in the audience this afternoon will take occasion to hear them again at their concert this evening. An their case, the term "musical prodigies," has not been misplaced. Master Sidney handles the violin with ease and grace for one of his age, while master Howard plays wonderfully well, producing clear, accurate tones from the piccolo. Baby Percy is undoubtedly the youngest violincello player in the world, being only five years of age, yet he plays with as much self-possession as one that has been on the stage for years, and he is entitled to his share of credit for the successful rendering of the programme.

Funeral of J B. Inman.

The funeral of J. B. Inman will take place from the Plymouth church, three miles south of Hanover on Sunday at eleven o'clock. Mr. Inman was one of the first settlers of the town of Plymouth and served his town in many official capacities, and was a member of the county board of supervisors several terms. He was a man of much force of character, and held the respect of the community. He leaves a wife and eleven children.

Investments.

The spring activity in real estate is just commencing in West Superior Wisconsin. The building year of ninety-one will be the largest on record. Fortunes have been made, and this spring promises to be the most active ever seen at the "Head of the Lakes." Full information, maps, etc., will be sent to any one sending their name to Rogers & Ruger, 619 Tower avenue, West Superior, Wisconsin.

WAS FOUND IN JANESVILLE

Curious Trip of a Letter Mailed From Chicago to Lexington Long Ago.

A letter was mailed from the Chicago postoffice in May, 1888, and was yesterday returned to the writer. The queer thing about it was that while the letter was sent to Lexington, Ill., it was picked up on the street the other day in Janesville and returned to the sender in Chicago.

Though mailed over two years ago the letter was not soiled and was in good condition. Where it has been all this time and how it came to be found in Janesville, puzzles the man who tells about it in the Inter Ocean.

ONE DAY IN THE STATE.

Racine police are looking for a man who sold putrid cheese to citizens of that town.

A Palmyra boy's eye was cut out by a snow ball, in which a piece of glass was imbedded.

Thomas Maloney, of Chippewa Falls, drank aconite, thinking it was whisky and died.

After five years of suffering as the result of freezing in a North Dakota blizzard, Jacob Sly died at Beloit.

Horicon has solved the tramp question by ordering the authorities not to feed them with meals costing over ten cents.

Racine has caught the annexation fever. The city council now proposes to absorb the adjacent territory so that the population would be increased 300.

If prohibition is in force when J. K. Smith, of Racine is 50 years old he is to pay J. K. Jones $1,000. If it is not in force Jones pays him twenty-five cents.

Joseph List, of Oshkosh, a lymph patient, who has just been discharged from the Milwaukee Passavant Hospital, complains of the treatment and says he does not think much of it.

There is a man in Walworth who can chew tobacco; smoke, and spit, all without taking his pipe out of his mouth or his hands out of his pockets. He is the only child of wealthy and indulgent parents, and will doubtless make his mark.

THREE JANESVILLE CASES.

A Trio of Bower City Suits Before the Supreme Court.

Three Janesville cases were begun in the supreme court yesterday. They were:

Brownell appellant vs Durkee et al. respondents. Argued by M. G. Jeffris for appellant and by John B. Simmons for respondents.

Richardson, appellant, vs Ames, respondent. Argued by J B. Doe for appellant and by M. G. Jeffris for respondent.

Duffy, appellant, vs Ryan, respondent. Argued by Frank Duffy for appellant and J. B. Doe for respondent.

The case of Richardson against Ames was an appeal from a justice court. A. Richardson sued H. S Ames to recover the cost of a buggy and repairs and painting.

The case of Duffy against Ryan is also an appeal from a justice court. The action was begun in justice court and charged that Ryan's cattle trespassed on the land owned by Duffy. Duffy objected to the taxing of some costs against him and appealed to the circuit court and from the circuit court to the supreme court. He acted as his own attorney.

At Aunty's House.

One time when we's at aunty's house—
Way in the country—where
They's ist but woods, and pigs and cows,
An' all's outdoors and air!
An orchard swing, and churry trees,
An' churries in 'em! Yes, an' these
Here red head birds steal all they please,
An' tetch 'em ef you dare!
Why wunst, one time when we wuz there,
We et out on the porch!

Wite where the cellar door wuz shut
The table wuz; an' I
Let aunty get by me an' cut
My wittles up, an' pie.
Tuz awful funny! I could see
The red heads in the churry tree;
An' bee hives, where you got to be
So keerful goin' by—
An' comp'ny there an' all, an' we—
We et out on the porch!

An' I ist et p'surves an' things
'At ma don't 'low me to—
An' chickun gizzards (don't like wings
Like Parunts does, do you?)
An' all the time the wind blowed there
An' I could feel it in my hair,
An' its smell clover ever' where!
An' a old red head flew
Purt' nigh wite over my high chair,
When we et out on the porch!

That Waltz of Von Weber's.

Gayly and gayly rang the gay music,
The blithe, merry music of harp and of horn,
The mad, merry music that set us a-dancing
Till over the midnight came stealing the morn.

Down the great hall went waving the banners,
Waving and waving their red, white and blue,
As the sweet summer wind came blowing and blowing
From the city's great gardens asleep in the dew.

Under the flags, as they floated and floated,
Under the arches and arches of flowers,
We two and we two floated and floated
Into the mystical midnight hours.

And just as the dawn came stealing and stealing,
The last of those wild Weber waltzes began:
I can hear the soft notes now appealing and pleading,
And I catch the faint scent of the sandal-wood fan

That lay in your hand, in your hand on my shoulder,
As down the great hall, away and away,
All under the flags and under the arches,
We danced and we danced till the dawn of the day.

But why should I dream o'er this dreary old ledger,
In this counting room down in this dingy old street,
Of that night or that morning, just there at the dawning,
When our hearts beat in time to our fast flying feet?

What is it that brings me that scent of enchantment,
So fragrant and fresh from out the dead years,
That just for a moment I'd swear that the music
Of Weber's wild waltzes are still in my ears!

What is it, indeed, in this dusty old alley,
That brings me that night or that morning in June?
What is it, indeed?—I laugh to confess it—
A hand organ grinding a creaking old tune!

But somewhere or other I caught in the measure
That waltz of Von Weber's, and back it all came,
That night or that morning, just there at the dawning,
When I danced the last dance with my first and last flame.

My first and last! but who would believe me
If, down in this dusty old alley today,
'Twixt the talk about cotton, the markets and money,
I should suddenly turn in some moment and say

That one memory only had left me a lonely
And gray bearded bachelor dreaming in Junes
When the nights and the mornings, from the dusk to the dawnings,
Seemed set to the music of Weber's wild tunes!

A MILITIA RETIRED LIST

Democrats at Last Get Their Educational Bill Under Way—The Measure Granting Additional Guardianship to Mothers Postponed.

MADISON, Feb. 27.—[Special]—The democrats at last have an educational bill under way. The Desmond bill with stereotyped party amendments was placed on the general file to-day, having been reported from the committee. It is said to be slated for early passage.

A bill which Janesville militia men have done much to advance, that providing for a national guard retired list, was passed by the assembly and another bill that passed provides for reducing the interest on tax certificates from twenty-five to twelve per cent.

Among the "dead-head" bills reported were: To prevent deception in sales of dairy products; appropriating fifteen thousand dollars annually for peoples' institutes; to amend the charter of Superior; to permit James McCrossen to build a dam in the west branch of the Montreal river.

The committee on agriculture has reported for indefinite postponement of the bill abolishing farmers institutes.

In the senate Kempf's bill prohibiting child labor, was killed by a party vote.

A bill passed levying a one-tenth mill tax for the state university.

The bill giving mothers the same guardianship rights as fathers, was indefinitely postponed.
